Forecast for Sunday 13 Jun 2021

Weather: A few shallow mist patches may develop in the valleys through the early hours, along with patchy low cloud over the highest peaks, but these will quickly clear after dawn to leave another fine and mostly sunny day. Some patchy fair weather cloud is likely to develop at times but there will continue to be some prolonged periods of sunshine through the afternoon. It will feel warmer than on Saturday and also more humid, particularly when directly in the very strong sunshine. High or very high levels of UV and pollen. It will stay dry with sunny periods into the evening.

Maximum wind: Southwesterly 10-15 mph, locally gusting of 20-25 mph.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 60% improving 90% or greater.

Visibility: Locally poor at with patchy cloud affecting slopes above 500m, and also with any early valley mist, but otherwise widely very good visibilities. Distant landmarks may turn rather hazy through the day as the heat builds.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 10 Celsius rising to plus 23 Celsius.
At 600m: Plus 11 Celsius, rising to plus 16 Celsius.
Freezing level: Above the summits.
